

PRIVACY POLICY

We value the trust you place in us. It is our responsibility to respect your privacy regarding any information we may collect while you are operating our website. Any personal data you share with us will not be shared with others without your explicit permission. We may disclose personal information if required to do so by law or in the good faith belief that such disclosure is reasonably necessary to respond to any legal process.

We have outlined this privacy policy so as to make you understand how we collect, use, communicate, disclose and otherwise make use of your personal information. We also promise that we will collect personal information by lawful and fair means and wherever appropriate with the knowledge or consent of the individual concerned.

Before or at the time of collecting personal information, we will identify the purpose for which information is collected.

We shall collect and use personal information solely for fulfilling those purposes specified by us. For this, we request you to give us your consent as required by law. Personal data will be relevant for the purpose for which it is used, to the extent necessary. We shall collect personal data by using reasonable security safeguards against loss or theft, unauthorised access, disclosure, copying, use and modification.

We shall make readily available to people accessing our website, information about our policies and practices relating to the management of the personal information. We shall only retain personal information for as long as necessary for the fulfillment of those purposes.

We are committed to conducting our business in accordance with these principles in order to ensure that the confidentiality of personal information is protected and maintained. We reserve the right to change this policy from time to time at our discretion.